

The Butler Weekly Times.

VOL. XXIX.

BUTLER, MISSOURI, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1907.

NO. 50

WE CANNOT SAY TOO MUCH FOR PE-RU-NA

These Women Say, in Substance, That Before They Took Pe-ru-na They Were Miserable.

They Were Weak and Wretched.

After Taking Pe-ru-na They Were Restored to Health and Usefulness.

This Is the Whole Story in a Nutshell.

If Pe-ru-na Can Do Such Wonders For These Women It Can Do the Same For You.

The housewife is the one who is best able to judge of the relative merits of family medicines. It is she that knows the many uses of Pe-ru-na in the family. It is upon her testimonial that chiefly depends the popularity which Peruna enjoys.

MRS. E. T. GADDIS

Mrs. E. T. Gaddis, Marion, N. C., writes: "Before I commenced to take Peruna I could not do any hard work without suffering great pain. I took Peruna and Manalin, and can say with pleasure they have done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken. Now I am as well as ever, I do all my own work and it never hurts me at all. I think Peruna is a great medicine for womankind."

From Grateful Women.

"I was troubled with suppressed and painful menstruation. I took Peruna according to your directions, and now I am well."—Mrs. James Eighmey, Grape, Mich.

"We have been using Peruna for some time. To speak from a standpoint of experience I can candidly say that Peruna is the remedy for female weakness."

"From a personal test and from the testimony of many others I shall not hesitate to recommend it, especially to all suffering women."—Mrs. M. F. Jones, Burning Springs, Ky.

"I suffered from catarrh for many years, but since taking Peruna I feel strong and well. As I used Peruna and Manalin while I was passing through the change of life, I am positively convinced your beneficial remedies have relieved me of all my ills."—Mrs. Mathilde Richter, Doniphan, Neb.

"I suffered with pelvic catarrh until I wrote to Dr. Hartman, and after taking treatment as he advised, I can say I am cured of this most trying affliction, for which I am truly thankful. I never felt better in my life than I do at present."—Mrs. Etta Booker, Dundurn, Sask., N. W. T., Can.

MRS. A. E. STOFFER

Pe-ru-na Gave Health. Mrs. A. E. Stoffer, Capoma, Kansas, writes: "Peruna has given me health and strength; it is the best medicine that was ever made for women. My friends say they never saw such a change in a woman. I talk to every one about Peruna. I cannot say too much for it."

A Remedy For Women. It is safe to say that we have thousands of letters written to Dr. Hartman from women who repeat the same sentiment to be found in Mrs. Stoffer's testimonial: "My friends say they never saw such a change in a woman." Over and over again this sentence is penned by grateful women who are more than willing that we should use their words to assist other suffering women in finding a cure. Peruna is a great medicine for women. It cleanses the inside of the body in much the same way that water cleanses the outside of the body.

MRS. CAROLINE SUNDHEIMER

Stronger Than for Years.

Mrs. Caroline Sundheimer, Clarks, La., writes: "I am feeling quite well now. I can work again and am stronger than I have been for years, and I do believe that Peruna saved my life. I am very thankful to you for your advice. I will advise all I can to take your medicine."

Letter Cost Youth $1,000.

Danville, Ill., Oct. 7.—Because Miss Maude Teltier refused to give him a dance at Kankakee Hall a short time ago, Henry Pallisard, a well known young man of that place, wrote her an objectionable letter.

Miss Teltier, a pretty young school teacher and one of the young belles of the place, told some friends of the contents of the note. The friends caused Pallisard's arrest, and in the United States Court Judge Francis Wright fined the offender $1,000 on a plea of guilty.

AUCTIONEER!

I am prepared to cry sales in this and adjoining counties on reasonable terms. Satisfaction guaranteed. Have been a trader and shipper of live stock 10 years. Am well posted in pedigrees and values. Four years experience as auctioneer.

LYMAN HENSLEY.
46-48 AMSTERDAM R. F. D. 3.
Telephone Line No. 2.

C. E. Robbins, The Successful Auctioneer.

New and up-to-date methods. Graduate of the two best Auction Schools in the world. Member of both American and International Associations. Sixty-six successful sales in the past season. Terms reasonable. Pure and honest and fair value a specialty. Call on or address me at Amherst, Ill.

TO ELIMINATE "WHITE SLAVES."

Secretary Straus Interested in a Movement Against the Traffic.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Oscar Straus, secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, and Frank P. Sargent, commissioner of immigration, have determined to eliminate the "white slave" traffic from the United States. On his recent trip through the Northwestern and Pacific coast states, Secretary Straus's attention was directed to the increase in the traffic. The Japanese and Korean exclusion league informed him that hundreds of Japanese women were being brought to America and sold by their importers.

Secretary Straus ordered a rigid investigation and it was found that the "white slave" traffic was far more widespread than had been suspected. It involves the importation into America not only of Japanese but women from France, Austria, Russia and Italy. It is proposed to have a careful inquiry instituted in all of the large cities, and a "roundup" of suspected women will be made. Those who have not been in the country three years and are found to have been brought here illegally will be deported. Before they are returned to their native lands, however, they will be required to furnish evidence against those who brought them here, and prosecutions will be begun against those responsible for the traffic. It is proposed to make examples of such men and women by sending them to prison.

The following is an extract from a sermon recently delivered at Farber by Rev. Book and is very much to the point: "A woman had played in a series of games in the parlor for a cut glass vase valued at $20. She had lied and cheated and stolen to win, but lost by about two points. The disappointment made her sick and she went to bed. The next day her boy came to her room and said: 'Mamma I know why you are sick; it is because you didn't win that cut glass vase; don't worry about that, there is another one down town just like it. Here, take this $20 and buy it.' The mother sat up in bed and said: 'My son, where did you get that money?' 'I won it last night down at Richardson's playing poker.' The mother threw up her hands in horror and said: 'My son is it possible you are a gambler?' The son replied: 'Mother, what is the difference between playing for a $20 cut glass vase and playing for a $20 bill and buying a vase?' That mother has quit gambling."

Take something now and then to help the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contains the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It digests what you eat. Sold by Frank Clay, druggist.

Body Eaten by Dogs. Oklahoma City, Ok., Oct. 7.—Dogs found and ate almost entirely the remains of a man afterwards identified as Tom Street, in Comanche county. Street disappeared from his home about six weeks ago, and it was thought had left the country. He was identified by his clothing and papers found in them. The flesh was almost entirely gone from the bones and there is nothing to indicate the manner of his death.

Senator Cockrell is 73.

Washington, October 7.—Francis Marion Cockrell, for thirty years United States senator from Missouri, now a member of the interstate commerce commission, is 73 years of age. Many of the friends of the ex-senator dropped into his office to extend congratulations. Nearly everybody in official life remembered that this was Senator Cockrell's birthday. Mr. Cockrell would admit only that he was 73 years young. He did not celebrate except in his usual way by hard work, when not interrupted by callers.

"Drink sparingly, eat regularly get plenty of sleep and work hard if you want to live to a green old age," said Francis Marion Cockrell, of Missouri, who was 73 years young.

Mr. Cockrell was a United States senator from Missouri for thirty years. He entered the upper house of Congress as the successor of Carl Schurz, March 4, 1875.

Some months ago his health became impaired as a result of his work as a member of the interstate commerce commission. He returned to the office of that body apparently as good as new and looking better than he has for a great many years.

"I want to know," said a man who called on Senator Cockrell, "how it is that at the age of 73 you appear and are as active as a man of 50. How did you do it? Give me the recipe?"

"I have worked all my life," was the reply. "I went into the Confederate army as a captain of a company when I was a mere stripling. Many of the boys in gray had a hard time of it. My company did not enjoy the luxury of a commissary department. We had to depend upon the broad prairies for food and everything else we needed. Sometimes we went into camp hungry. I went into the army in May 1861. All through the summer and up until the cold snap set in I went without a coat and so did the rest of the boys of the company. My army experience benefitted me in health. When the war was over I returned home stronger and healthier in mind and body."

NEVER DRANK AT A RECEPTION.

Cockrell was a little more than 41 when he entered the United States Senate. "When I came to Washington," he said, "I was possessed of a lot of old fashioned ideas. The capital was a great big place to my notion and I made up my mind to steer clear of temptation. One of my first resolutions was that I should never take a drink at any public function where I was a guest. In my thirty years' service in the senate I never tasted champagne, wine, or any intoxicating liquor at any dinner or reception of a public nature."

"I remember an experience I had at the White House in the Grant administration," said Senator Cockrell with a smile. "I had the pleasure of occupying a seat next to Mrs. Grant. Following my custom, I turned down my wine glasses. The first lady of the land noticed it. 'Senator,' she said, turning to me, 'drink your champagne. It's a good digestant.'"

"I replied: 'Madame, I rarely ever drink.' 'Ah, I see the trouble,' she said, with an amused smile, 'you want whisky or brandy. I shall order it for you. Which shall it be?' 'Again I assured her that I did not care for a drink and repeated that I rarely ever took intoxicants. 'What!' with an astonishment that was not feigned, 'you a Democrat and from Missouri and do not drink?'"

"I have never used whisky except as a medicine," continued Senator Cockrell. "Whenever I have felt out of sorts I have taken a dram, but that is all. I never liked the taste or smell of the stuff."

Senator Cockrell has just abandoned a practice about which columns have been written by newspaper men. It was his habit to eat for luncheon each day three big red apples. Sometimes he munched them in the Senate chamber, bending his tall form under his desk, nursing a delusion that he could not be seen from the galleries. Often he ate his apple luncheon in the cloak room, occupying a seat on a couch where he could hear every word of the Senate proceedings. Once in a while he stood in the door of the cloak room, but his physician advised him recently that he had to take a heartier luncheon. Oysters or clams have supplanted red apples in the Cockrell noonday menu.

Mr. Cockrell lives about a mile from the offices of the interstate commission. He walks to and from his work every day.

"I can walk a mile in twenty minutes," he said, "and cover three to seven miles every day. Seven miles is my limit. I can do no more. I am 73. I see no reason why I should not reach the age of 93, or even more. Young men, if you want to live long, drink moderately, if at all, be careful of the use of the weed if you are fond of tobacco, eat plain foods and sleep at least eight hours every day. That is my prescription for a healthy, comfortable, long life. That's all."

Do not have a falling out with your hair. It might leave you! Then what? That would mean thin, scraggly, uneven, rough hair. Keep your hair at home! Fasten it tightly to your scalp! You can easily do it with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is something more than a simple hair dressing. It is a hair medicine, a hair tonic, a hair food.

My Hair Ran Away

The best kind of a testimonial—
"Sold for over sixty years."

Made by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
Also manufacturers of SARSAPARILLA,
PILLS,
CHERRY PECTORAL.

Rear Admirals Must Swim.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Amusement spread through the navy department when it became known that Assistant Secretary Newberry had announced that rear admirals must soon undergo a test to show whether they can swim or not. The Newberry plan is to have the admirals dive from the shore and swim to their ships. Among the admirals who have simply cruised between the navy department and the club for years there is consternation.

One indignant naval hero of global physique exclaimed:

"What does Newberry mean? Doesn't he know that by the time a man gets to my rank his abdomen outweighs his head? He might as well demand a swimming test for the police department."

Hard Times in Kansas.

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shanburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold cure and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed at F. T. Clay's drug store. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Bryan's Tour of New York.

New York, Oct. 2.—William J. Bryan's tour of this state during the last week of this month is to be managed on a basis of rigid economy. His local press agent and political manager announced that Mr. Bryan's speech in this city on October 21 will be delivered at Carnegie hall instead of Madison Square Garden, as at first announced.

The change was decided on because the Garden was too expensive. No expensive hall will be hired in any of the up-state cities where Mr. Bryan is to speak, and he will travel on regular trains—no private cars for him.

A SLAYER IN A KIMONO.

Clews to the Murderers of H. K. Brown in Baker City.

Baker City, Ore., Oct. 7.—The newspaper representatives here have established what they believe to be incontrovertible evidence that three men were implicated in the assassination of Harvey K. Brown and that one was attired in a woman's kimono. Brown was blown up by a bomb. It is believed the crime was committed in revenge because Brown had arrested Steve Adams, a murderer.

It is believed the one who posed as a woman pulled the wire which exploded the bomb. It is known that a woman was seen at the scene a short time before the tragedy. Three men visited a store in town to purchase a kimono and had a discussion regarding the size of the garment, one declaring he could not wear it as it was too small. Noting the look of surprise on the clerk's face, he said it was for a large woman. He purchased a large garment. Shortly before the purchase was made a man visited another store and was shown some mother-hubbard wrappers, but bought a "Teddy Bear" instead, to divert attention, it is believed. A witness has been found who saw two men and a supposed woman near the scene shortly before the explosion. Both men asked the witness for matches and tobacco. One of the men bore striking resemblance to the man who purchased the kimono. The authorities believe the murderers are still in the city.

Clay says

"Mistakes are a rare thing at this store." There are so many different ways in which misunderstandings may occur, however, that it is almost impossible to foresee and prevent them.

Will say though that we have never had our attention called to one but that it was satisfactorily and amicably settled with our customers and ourselves.

"It's right or we make it right," is a motto we adhere to strictly.

Clay's
PRESCRIPTION DRUGGIST.
What You Buy We Stand By.